

BrainHost - Smart Hosting

Written by BrainHost

Monday, 23 August 2010 17:28 - Last Updated Wednesday, 10 November 2010 08:00

BrainHost owns a fully automated system for ordering products. With this system the entire process of registration, ordering and reception of service is done in a very short time. Many companies that offer web hosting receive your order right after you place it, but its processing is done within 12-24 hours. Why? Because this process is done manually. You place your order, they receive it, and once payment is confirmed to be processed.

Choosing BrainHost helps you get rid of all this fuss. With us everything is simplified. You create a user in our system, command service, executive pay and get service in 5 minutes. In the same system we offer support 24 / 7 via ticket system for Sales and Technical departments.

Any questions or problems can be solved in the shortest time BrainHost operators interacting with you in real time.

The support system is designed in a way that your problems get answered in a very short time, so if an operator that has been assigned to your ticket is busy and doesn't answer in time, your ticket will get automatically assigned to another operator that isn't busy and will answer.

In addition we provide a blog where you can learn different things about managing a domain. MySQL Tutorials, wordpress installation, hosting related articles and more. If you are a beginner in this area, you should also visit the blog to document some things.